Small appropriations were made by the general assembly for the work of the state board of health in 1875, 1876 and 1877, after which the board ceased to exist for want of recognition by the state (House Journal 1892, p. 47.) Act of Aug. 17, 1903 created the department a second time, providing for a board of twelve members—the secretary and eleven members appointed by the governor (one from each of the congressional districts, and the majority of whom should be physicians) for six year terms; board to have supervision of all matters relating to the preservation of the life and health of the people of the state, to have supreme authority in matters of quarantine, and to collect and preserve records of births and deaths; executive, secretary (commissioner of health and director of communicable diseases, by action of the board), to be a competent physician elected by the board for six year terms, who should keep his office in Atlanta, keep a record of the transactions of the board, be custodian of all papers, books and documents and other property belonging to the board, and perform such duties as the board may prescribe (Acts 1903, p. 72). Acts of Aug. 22, 1907 and Aug. 17, 1908 provided for the manufacture and transportation of diphtheria antitoxine and attenuated virus for treating and preventing rabies or hydrophobia, both to be supplied free of charge to the people of Georgia (Acts 1907, p. 19 and 1908, p. 13). Act of Aug. 14, 1909 provided that the state board of health should keep with the several ordinaries of the state a reasonable supply of diphtheria antitoxine to supply physicians for charitable purposes and to sell when purchasers were unable to procure elsewhere at regular retail price (Acts 1909, p. 130). Act of Aug. 17, 1914 made the state superintendent of schools and the state veterinarian ex-officio members of the state board of health and provided for county boards of health, to be composed of the county superintendent of schools, the chairman of the board of roads and revenues or in counties having no such board, the ordinary, and a reputable physician elected by the grand jury for four year terms, said boards to have supervision over all matters relating to health and sanitation in their respective counties; for the division of the state into sanitary districts, each county constituting a district except that two or more counties having a population of less than 37,000 inhabitants may be combined if the combined total does not exceed 75,000 inhabitants, said combination to be made by the state board of health upon recommendation of the county boards of health of the counties concerned; for the appointment of district commissioners of health, who shall be licensed physicians, able bodied, temperate and of good moral character, for four-year terms by the county board, or boards, from an eligible list furnished by the secretary of the state board, said list to contain names of persons examined by the secretary and a committee of the state board; and for the supervision of the work of all district commissioners, who shall give their entire time to the duties of their office, by the secretary of the state board (Acts 1914, p. 124). Act of Aug. 17, 1914 provided for the registration of births and deaths under the state board of health; for the appointment by the board, and the compensation of a state registrar of vital statistics, who shall be a medical practitioner of not less than five years practice and a competent vital statistician and who shall hold office for four-year terms; and for local and sub-registrars, etc. (Acts 1914, p. 157). Act of Aug. 21, 1917 provided that in counties having a city of 60,000-150,000 population, the county board of health might appoint as the health officer for such city the district commissioner of health for said county (Acts 1917, p. 106). Act of Aug. 17, 1918 placed under the control of the state board of health the Tuberculosis Sanitarium (created by act of Aug. 17, 1908 and consisting of two departments,

Act of Aug. 26, 1929 appropriated $100,000 to be expended by the state board of health in study and research of cancer; said expenditures to be made only in connection with an institution already established, having for its main purpose the study and treatment of the disease (Acts 1929, p. 53). The re-organization of the judiciary by an act of Dec. 23, 1789 placed the office of attorney-general in commission with the duties divided between two persons styled the attorney-general and the solicitor-general, one to attend the Eastern judicial circuit and the other the Western (Watkins Digest, p. 389) and this arrangement continued until 1796; the act of Feb. 23, 1796 (original on file in department of archives and history) re-organizing the judiciary provided for three judicial circuits and again placed the office of attorney-general in commission, with the duties divided between the attorney-general and two solicitors-general. CITY AND COUNTY COURTS

The Constitution mentions City and County Courts but does not prescribe their organization or jurisdiction. To ascertain the jurisdiction of any particular Court, it is necessary to consult the act creating it. Some judges and solicitors of these city and county courts are elected; others are appointed by the Governor. The terms are usually for four years, beginning January first; however, the terms are not all uniform.

NOTE: So far as the compiler is able to determine from the records there are functioning at this time, 63 city courts (2 for Gwinnett County); 4 county courts (Baldwin, Clinch, Echols, and Putnam). The City Court of Atlanta became the Criminal Court of Fulton County from May 1, 1935 (Acts 1935, p. 498).
